LETTER TO THE CIRCUIT

Rev Helen Kirk

Why?!

Not the demand of an inquiring child but the question that was asked of us by Rev Jill Marsh, District Director of Mission, at the circuit consultation in June.

She began with the simplest of questions: Why were we there at that meeting? For some of us the answer was because we had to be there!

Why? Because we had a particular role in the life of the church

Why? Because we had taken on a responsibility or were fulfilling a calling

Why? Because we believed in the central message of the grace and love of Jesus Christ that is the cornerstone of the church

Why? Because our lives had been touched, changed and enabled by Christ and we wanted others to have the same experience.

‘Why?’ is a good place to begin.

Many years ago a young woman and her son walked into a service I was leading; she had no church background but after going through a very difficult time in her life was now reaching out to find some sense of meaning and purpose. Thankfully she found it within that congregation; she became a Christian and was baptised and welcomed into membership. She was a gift to the church because she constantly asked the question ‘why?’ Why do you do that in worship? Why do you have that meeting? Why do you ‘do church’ in that way? She made us think about the reason for everything; to value the things that promoted the love and grace of Jesus as well as giving us the courage to stop those things that ‘we had always done’ but which added little to God’s mission and purpose in the world.

'Why?' Should then be the beginning of all our church policies and activities.

So as we begin another church year let us have the courage to ask 'why' we do all we do. Perhaps we will find a renewed energy as we realise the value and purpose of so many things we take for granted. Perhaps we will find a freedom to let go of things that no longer matter.....perhaps. However one thing is sure: we will continue to persevere as Christ's presence in the communities where we live and serve, offering grace and peace to all and everyone.

Why? Because that is what Jesus calls us to do.

Helen

Prayer for Quarter

My eyes be open to your presence,

my ears to hear your call.

My heart be open to your love and in your arms to fall.

My mind be open to your word,

my soul to heaven's cure,

that I be open to you Lord,

this day and ever more.

Swanbourne Outdoor Service – 26th June 2016

For ten years, since celebrating the centenary of the present chapel building and 150 years since the first chapel, we have held an outdoor service at Swanbourne, thanks to Ruth and David, one of our chapel members and her husband, whose farm is very near the chapel.

Secklow Brass, run by another member and her husband, has always provided the splendid accompaniment to the hymns.

Since my involvement with the Circuit Education and Youth Committee, we have made it an All-Age service with a Young People's activity round the village beforehand. This year, Irena's story for the service was about Zacchaeus, so the activity theme was trees, with words to collect from trees in the village Millennium Wood. In the service itself, our Sunday School provided a short but dramatic sketch of the story, which involved a step ladder and laurel branches!

Teas in the chapel

Over the years, the beauty of the farm site, the cream teas and the acoustics of the barn, which we use if the weather is not kind (and this year the fields were waterlogged) have brought our friends from all over the circuit.

The Youth Choir

We were also delighted this year to have the input from the Aylesbury Church Youth Choir, who went down a storm!

Can we book them for next year??

The collection which was made for Make Lunch, which provides meals in the holidays to families that need them, raised £243.85, and the donations for teas added £37.81 to our Chapel Funds.

So many thanks to all who supported and worshipped with us.

If you haven't joined us before, then make a note of the last Sunday in June – a date fixed to fit in with a window of opportunity when the barn is empty.

Thank you all again, and we hope to see you next year.

STOKE HAMMOND— WEDNESDAY COFFEE MORNINGS

On December 1st 1993, we held our first coffee morning at Stoke Hammond Methodist Chapel.

We had decided to hold weekly coffee mornings on a Wednesday to make regular use of our new kitchen, Vestry, and toilet extension. We chose not to charge a set price, but to put a bowl on the table for people to make a donation ~ we still have the same arrangement today. On that first occasion, 15 people came and as it was close to Christmas we had mince pies to go with the tea and coffee.

We drew up a cake rota, and now several ladies take turns to provide delicious home-made cakes or savouries.

The first week's donations amounted to £6.35p, and although that seems a very modest amount, the money collected over the years paid for a replacement pipe organ for the chapel, which two of the founder coffee morning members play at Sunday Services, and now supplements chapel funds. We average about 20 people each week, but on a recent occasion there were 29 present.

Having put pen to paper I could almost write a book about what goes on at the coffee morning. It is such a happy place to be, and just like a family — only we don't squabble!

Thank you for inviting us to tell you about our weekly coffee morning.

Do call in if you are passing between 10.30 and 12pm on a Wednesday.

Cheddington Methodist Church -- The Toast

'Toast' is a group set up in 2007 by two young church mums, Nicola and Debbie, for pre school children and their carers, to meet and socialise in our hall each Monday morning in term time. The church provided start-up funding for toys, cups and plates etc., and facilities such as a changing table and storage space plus a large noticeboard. Subs, now £1 per child, have long since covered the original funding, and many purchases since.

The title refers to the initial idea, borrowed from Nicola's twin sister's church in Lancashire, for Toast (instead of biscuits!) to be provided mid-morning. This is still very popular, and currently about a dozen children love sitting together round our cheery small tables, eating buttered toast.

When Nicola went back to full-time work in January 2015, I researched the register and estimated that at least 100 different families had attended Toast over the years (more now!). It continues as a very friendly group, and creates a good introduction for new families in the village, and is much appreciated by childminders, including several grandmas – Rev. Irena and grandson Thomas are regular attenders!

Our church members set up tables etc. in the hall after morning service on Sunday. We have all the usual range of toys, including the ever-popular playdough, and a craft table. A weekly craft activity is often organised by the members, who also clear away at the end, before we sit round and sing – a recently introduced and now compulsory session. When the usual leaders of the singing were away one week I tried to skip it, but the children sat themselves down in a circle and waited!

As ever, we need more helpers; being there every week takes its toll on the two elderly helpers.
End of year party next week – who knows what September will bring!

More news from Cheddington

Despite our reduction in numbers and the illnesses and incapacity of some of our members we are still reaching out to the community at every opportunity. At the end of July we started a Music Opportunity Evening for the secondary pupils in the village and received an encouraging response. The idea developed from a visit by the Circuit Music Group who led an evening service for us in October 2015; we all loved it. That inspired us, with our Churches Together group, to try to engage the young musicians in the village; our Chapel is the ideal location to make as much noise as they like. The idea is that youngsters come along, bring their own music, to help them overcome their embarrassment and find some common ground. We provide refreshments and conversation, At the second meeting on 2nd. September we decided to move to a monthly meeting on Sunday evenings when the Chapel is empty. This we will give them something to do during the dark evenings of Autumn and Winter and encourage them to bring along a few friends.

Later in September (weather permitting) we are hoping a start will be made on our roof repairs, for which we have received a much welcomed donation.

Then during the season of Advent we will have our usual village Christmas tree on the forecourt of the Chapel, but this year will have a child size manger scene, which we hope will generate interest from villagers. The figures will be completed during our Advent Messy Church afternoon; the framework of the scene being completed by one of the villagers. Hopefully we will remember to take some photos that can then be put on the website.

We value your interest and prayers

Wallace reaches 50th

anniversary of his ordination

The recent Methodist Conference met in Westminster Central Hall, London in June/July.

A new president and Vice-President were elected: the Rev Dr Roger Walton, and Rachel Lampard, MBE, respectively. One of their first tasks was to send out letters to long-serving and respected ministers one of whom was our friend and colleague the Rev Wallace Edwards.

The letter reads: "The Conference has noted that around this time you will be celebrating the 50th anniversary, the Golden Jubilee, of your Ordination. We very much want to offer the greetings and congratulations of the Conference as you mark this special occasion". It goes on: "May God continue to bless you in your work for Him and for the bringing in of His kingdom".

We too, people from churches where Wallace has served and still serves and preaches, offer our love and congratulations and wish both

Rev G Wallace Edwards.

Wallace and Mary many more years of happy service.

The letter goes on to say: "During our year of office we will be exploring our theme of 'Holiness and Justice'. Holiness and Justice are intimately related. Responding to the love of God in Jesus means that we seek to live our lives in a different way, a way which seeks justice for all people."

The letter also gives details of how Methodism since its beginnings has laid emphasis on serving the poor in society.

Fairtrade Matters

The vote by the British public in the recent referendum has wide reaching implications not only within the UK but also for other nations and individuals world wide. The outcomes in terms of the impact on attitudes and trading have yet to be realised and may not be realised for some years.

But what does the referendum vote mean for Fairtrade?

The phrase Free trade was in regular use in the campaigns. The phrase Fairtrade however had little airing. Some interchange the phrases but they mean very different things.

Free trade refers to a general openness to exchange goods and information between and among nations with few to no barriers to that trade.

Fair trade refers to exchanges, the terms of which meet the demands of justice, including aspects such as a minimum wage, age of labourers, working hours etc.

The concern is that, where policies are focussed on Free trade, the markets will be more interested in increasing a nations' economic growth and have less regard for empowering marginalised producers to improve the quality of their lives. This is something that can be a factor in economic migration.

How things pan out will be down not only to the negotiations of Dr Liam Fox (as Minister for creating new trading arrangements), but also to you and me. The actions we take in relation to choices about what we buy are relevant. Also of relevance is how we wish to see workers treated; be they UK based or live elsewhere in the world. Whether workers and producers are known to us or are complete strangers, it could be argued that purchasers should exercise the same level of concern about the way items they make are made available to us.

There has been much debate over the years in respect of the benefits of Fair trade as compared to Free trade, and it is likely that neither provide the complete answer. If you would like to explore the matter further, please visit some of the many entries on the subject on the internet.

Using a search of Fair trade versus Free trade should provide a good starting point. Alternatively, please visit www.fairtrade.org.uk.

You may also want to watch out for and explore how the vote impacts on the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Policy.

The road to happiness

Happiness is something we create in our mind,
Not something we search for and so seldom find.
It's just waking up and beginning the day ...
By counting our blessings and bowing to pray.
It's giving up thoughts that breed discontent
And accepting what comes as a gift heaven-sent.
It's giving up wishing for things we have not,
And making the best of whatever we've got.

The WORLD'S WINDOW on the CIRCUIT

Whilst this describes the primary purpose of the Website, it is also, or should be, a valuable source of information for the Circuit enabling an exchange of information between the churches and between churches and those who are responsible for administration of the Circuit.

There is now a group of Sub-Editors who can update their church information but we could do with more. They are:

For articles it is still necessary to contact the main editors listed on the back page.

Many other members can access the cloud where all the detailed information is stored. Regular preachers and some church Officers have access to the CHRESTOS Planning tools that allow them to participate in some important aspects of the development of the Preaching Plan each quarter. Not everyone can see the Website but every church has at least one person who is able to keep their church informed.

It does not take much time particularly when you get familiar with the site.
