LETTER TO THE CIRCUIT

NUMBER 23/29

Charity Number 1134235

Website www.aylesburyvale.org.uk

Rev. Helen Kirk

Superintendent Minister of The Vale of Aylesbury

Methodist Circuit

Introductions can often be difficult; that awkward moment when you must talk to a stranger for the first time or worse the cringe worthy jokes of the compere as he introduces an act. At least you can skip the introduction in a book.

Introductions can be an exciting possibility of things to come or the exact opposite! Introductions can be difficult and I have been asked to write one here; worst of all, the task is to introduce myself.

I originate from Hull, my mum & dad, brother & sister, nieces & nephews and numerous extended family all still live there.

However I have lived in various different places: Leicester where I studied Pharmacy - Plymouth working on a project with street children - Lichfield as a circuit Youth worker - Bristol training for the ministry and Cheshire as a minister for 17 years in two different Appointments.

I am married to Andrew who, for the last few years has worked as a teaching assistant in an autistic unit within a primary school. He is partially sighted (so if he misses an offered handshake he is not being rude just unable to see it; but continues to cycle everywhere; he sings, plays the drums & is a mean pantomime villain as well as being interested in sound & vision technologies.

We have two sons: Joel is 20 and studying Primary Education at Chester University and Sam is 18 and will hopefully be starting university in September studying Music Technology.

Anything else I say about them will be adjudged (by them) to be 'embarrassing mum syndrome' however, needless to say, we are very proud of them both. /over

As for myselfwell, I could talk about my interests in sport, books and story; I could tell you of the things I have done in my ministry: schools work; messy church; building projects; community engagement and so on but it all sounds so dry on paper. Instead, when we meet, why don't we put the kettle on and have a chat; that always seems like a far better way of getting to know one another.

And I do look forward to getting to know you; to walking together on the next stage of each of our journeys and, as we discover more about each other, we will also discover more about Christ.

Every Blessing

Helen Kirk

PRAYER FOR THE CIRCUIT (reprinted from past Magazine)

Forgive us, Lord, when we insist on looking backwards to how things used to be.

Although it is important for us to remember the past and to learn from it, set our sights on what lies ahead.

Give us fresh vision, renewed energy, rekindled hope and enthusiasm.

With gratitude for what has been, while living fully in the present moment, may that moment also contain the germ of forward looking impetus.

Guide us onwards into a future that is larger than we can imagine.

Reassure us of your ongoing presence within us.

Help us in realising the potential of what we can contribute in your service.

Amen
